Survivor Engagement Report

Over the past 18 months we have engaged with survivors and survivor organisations in a number of different ways.

This engagement has helped us develop our work and our processes within Redress Scotland and we would like to thank everyone who has taken the time to provide us with feedback.

We have published a report on all of the work that has taken place and you can click the link below to read this.

New Videos

We have created new videos for our website which we hope will help survivors applying to the scheme.

In one of these videos our Head of Operations, Gary Gallacher, speaks about how panel sitting days work. In the second video Gary speaks about Redress Scotland timescales.

Online Engagement Sessions

We have recently hosted online engagement sessions for the Redress Support Service.

This engagement session was focused on 'Panel Sitting Days' and looked at how panels were set up, the work that goes on before a panel sitting day, how panel members reach a decision and much more. We also gave those who attended the opportunity to ask questions at the end of the session.

Please click the link below to let us know what topics you think would be beneficial for you or your organisation to hear more about.

Meet the Team

Hi I'm Sharon Barbour and I am the People Administrator here at Redress Scotland. My support role covers the breadth of HR and Learning & Development and means I have day to day engagement across all of the staff teams and with our Panel Members

I joined Redress Scotland a year ago and in that time I have been an integral part of increasing the capacity of our organisation by supporting the recruitment and onboarding of new Panel Support Coordinators and welcoming our new cohort of Panel Members. I've also played a key role in the event planning and delivery for our AGM last year and our Annual Conference which took place earlier this year.

I particularly enjoy producing a monthly wellbeing calendar which provides guidance and links to resources to support the wellbeing needs of colleagues. I am proud to work for an organisation which embodies core values at the heart of its work and positively promotes a rights based approach in working with survivors.

Outside of work to relax I enjoy spending time with family, travel, a good box-set and crafting.
